DAY 1

Plan your own Comic Book!

Now you have thought of your hero and villain vegetables, you are ready to create your own comic book! Spend some time today thinking about what will happen in your comic and start to plan your ideas.

You could use the suggested plan below to help gather your ideas and put them in order. This plan follows a similar sequence to the story of Supertato. You could include some key words and spellings and even some character speech that you will want to include in a speech bubble!

Remember this is just your plan, so you don't have to write the comic. You can draw pictures or just add a few key words. You will be creating your real comic book tomorrow.

Comic Book Plan

Title: _____

	Main ideas	Key words	Character speech
1. Introduce the setting. Where is the story set? (In Supertato, the setting was the supermarket.)
2. Introduce your villain vegetable. Where do they come from? (In Supertato, the Evil Pea escaped from the freezer.)

3. Introduce your hero vegetable. How do they try to catch the villain?
4. What is the first mischievous thing your villain vegetable does? (In Supertato, Evil Pea stuck a carrot to the conveyor belt with a plaster!)
5. What's the second thing? (In Supertato, Evil Pea drew on Brocolli's face!)

6. What's the third thing? (In Supertato, Evil Pea wrapped toilet roll all around Cucumber)
7. How does the hero vegetable save the day? What superpowers do they use? (Supertato chased Evil Pea all around the supermarket and then set a trap in some jelly!)

8. How does the comic end? What happens to the villain vegetable? How does everyone celebrate?
